A CARD.
THE HINCKLEY & EGERY HOUSE-KEEPING, grateful to their patrons and friends for past patronage, would hereby inform the public generally, that they are not in favor of stopping the operation of their Works, but are increasing the facilities for doing their work. We have been forced to this step by the action of certain parties, who, under the name of Quack or Patent Medicine, or any other remedy, promised relief. It happened that this was the case.

Diamond Rheumatic Cure
obtained at No. 28 Hanover st., Boston, the statements accompanying directions, seemed reasonable, and I determined to give it a fair trial. I did so, at the same time being without faith in its efficacy. I proved the directions to be correct, and were startled on using the third bottle I was satisfied that it was acting powerfully and favorably, and before using the contents of my fifth bottle I was cured, and perfectly free from pain, and have since remained so. I have now no occasion to grin (with joy) that I no longer have to bear them.

Diamond Rheumatic Cure.
This medicine is prepared by experienced, expert and scientific chemists, who have given it their study the desire of many hundreds in the profession in the United States, and is warranted to eradicate the worst strength of rheumatism in any hopeless state or quantity of each bottle. MUST GRIN AND BEAR IT.

HE GRINS WITH JOY.
LEXINGTON, Mass., June 23, 1875.
PROF ALPHONSE HILLER:
Dear Sir,—For the alleviation of human suffering I feel it my duty as well as pleasure to certify to the following facts in my own case.
The past year I was severely afflicted with Sciatic Rheumatism, suffering night after night and all nights, without the least cessation, the most excruciating pains that I ever knew. By instructions recommended to my family for over thirty years, to my entire satisfaction, and in whom I still have the utmost confidence, said that "medicine was of no use, one is good—he could not help me, time probably would, and in my eighty sixth year I might leave me in the meantime." I must grin and bear it. But I was not disposed to do so, and in my despair I called on Mr. Hiller, which under the name of Quack or Patent Medicine, or any other remedy, promised relief. It happened that this was the case.

Androscoggin.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons will read in Lewiston in November.

Deputy Bryant is after the Lewiston rumsellers.

The Elm street Universalist church, Lewiston, will be perhaps the best and most beautiful church edifice for the money that has been erected in Maine since the time of the gold dollar—say 1861.

Mrs. Livermore announced to speak in Lewiston next Thursday evening, but cancelled the engagement.

The Androscoggin Water Power Co. at Lisbon Falls, have just finished their new grist mill. With one run of stones they can grind sixty bushels per hour of the nicest meal. The saw mill is running on full time. Since the middle of April they have sawn 1,500,000 shingles and about 800,000 clapboards.

Norton & Leavitt, at their yards in Waterville, have the under 1,000,000 hands.

Aroostook.

E. R. Burpee, Esq., of the New Brunswick Railway Company, and Mr. H. Osborn, superintendent of the N. B. & C. Railroad, were in Fort Fairfield on Wednesday, the 29th ult., with a party of ladies and gentlemen, who accompanied them on the first trip of the cars to the bridge at Tubingne. On Monday the trains were expected to cross the bridge. Seventy men are now at work on it, but as the water is very high they must necessarily work at great disadvantage.

This week the commissioners are to begin the work of appraising the land damages along the lines of the Aroostook river railroad from Fort Fairfield to Caribou.

The potato crop in the vicinity of Fort Fairfield is very good though not up to the average. The starch factory is grinding up about a thousand bushels a day.

The first high school at Fort Fairfield, in charge of Charles Hawes, of Bowdoin College, is progressing finely.

Rev. Dr. Thurston has been visiting the Congregational churches in Aroostook lately.

The Congregational church at Fort Fairfield is still without a pastor.

Sept. 27 and no killing frost at Presque Isle, says the Aroostook. That paper adds, "The climate of Aroostook is as genial and pleasant as any part of Maine. We have not the cold fogs of Quoddy, the chilling blasts of Cape Cod, or the high winds of Oxford and Franklin, but pleasant and genial summers as they of Pennsylvania, and far more delightful winters than among the hills of western Massachusetts and New Hampshire. We have a grape vine upon which the grapes ripened fine this year in the open air."

Cumberland.

Mrs. Susan Dupont, of Portland, while washing, Saturday, scalded her feet badly by pulling over a bottle of hot water.

J. G. Telford of Gorham, inflicted a severe wound in his ankle Friday night by stepping on a pitchfork in a hay mow.

Friday night, fruit thieves entered the garden of S. H. Odiorne, of Portland, and not only robbed him of a tree load of beautiful Duchess pears, but broke the branches of the tree down, nearly ruining it. The tree was a very valuable one, prized for its age and the rare quality of its fruit, and its destruction can hardly be measured by dollars. We trust that the police may be able to catch some of these thieves that they may be made an example of.

Kennebec.

Fremont Wood of Winthrop, scalded his foot severely on Wednesday last, by turning boiling hot tea into his boot.

William Wing and Howard Lindsay, of Monmouth, were crossing a bridge near the residence of Albert Crockett, when the horse became frightened and commenced to back, precipitating them into the stream below. The water was quite deep and it required considerable effort on their part to extricate themselves from the cold water. The horse was not injured, but the wagon was badly demolished.

A praise meeting was held at Farmingdale, Sunday evening, Rev. Mr. Park of Gardiner, officiating. A letter was read from the Knickerbocker Ice Co., of Philadelphia, containing in addition to their first donation of $100 for the bell for the new school house, a check for the balance due the founders, Messrs. Blake & Co., Boston.

Bradford Sawtelle of Sidney, raised seventy-five bushels of good clean, sound wheat, this year, on a little less than two acres of land.

Wm. Gaskin, formerly of Augusta, has been nominated by the Republicans as candidate for Judge of the 5th Judicial District of Nebraska.

Oxford.

The September Term of the S. J. Court for Oxford county adjourned Monday. The court was held by Judge Barrows, who transacted the business of the term to the entire satisfaction of all who had business before him.

A tramp named Delaney has been creating considerable disturbance in Sparrowhawk Pond and vicinity. In many cases, where the master of the house has been absent, he has used the most vulgar and indecent language to the ladies.

Potatoes are selling at 40 cts. per bushel at Bryant's Pond now, but most of the farmers think they will soon be higher than that.

The Oxford Bar adopted appreciative resolutions in respect to Gen. Kimball last week. Remarks were made by Messrs. Black and Perry and by Judge Barrows.

Building is quite brisk in Norway. The foundation for the addition to the shoe factory is being laid and the frame got out. A number of dwelling houses are in process of erection, and the work on them goes rapidly forward.

Penobscot.

That lively and interesting paper, the Dexter Gazette, is to be enlarged next January. Mr. Robins, the proprietor, is bound to keep up with the times and furnish a good local paper.

Sagadahoc.

The annual show and fair of the Sagadahoc Agricultural Society will be held at Topsham on the 12th, 13th and 14th inst. The farmers in that vicinity always labor to give success to the exhibitions.

Washington.

Lawrence Johnson, whose dead body many supposed was found on the ice on the St. Croix, opposite Bog Brook, last spring, turned up in St. Stephen a few weeks ago, and is now ready as ever to do odds and ends for whoever employs him. Whose body was found is therefore a mystery which is not likely to be solved in haste.

The Press says that Willard Kingsbury of Baileyville was so devoted to democracy on election day that after voting on his own name in Baileyville, he went to Calais and voted on the name of James Miller. Mr. Miller was greatly disgusted to find that another man had assumed his right, and took measures to hunt up the man, and now Mr. Kingsbury isn't entirely happy in prospect of a trial for the offence.

William Moore of Baring shot away one of a flock of chickens, numbering 12 at a single shot the other day.

York.

Elbon Tasker of Berwick died suddenly of heart disease Tuesday night of last week. He was in his usual health an hour before his death occurred. Mr. Tasker was a native of Bartlett and his ancestors were taken prisoners by the Indians in that place for his funeral. He was about sixty years of age.

A drunken father of the town of Biddeford whipped his son, a boy of seven years, severely last week. The boy was found by Henry Duke of Lyman.

On Tuesday, Oct. 19th, the Cornish Trotting Park Association will have the race advertised for the one of Sept. 29th and 30th.

The Pepperell and Laconia companies of Biddeford, are not running on short time, and the prospects for future business are brightening.

Albion K. Gile of Alfred has harvested 300 bushels of cranberries, and this is as he expects to do better.

THE DEFICIENCY IN THE ENGLISH WHEAT CROP

[From the N. Y. Evening Post.]

A letter from Mr. James Caird, a great authority on produce statistics, in the London Times contains much valuable information concerning the wheat crop in England and other countries in 1875. It appears from the returns of acreage that the area of the wheat crop in the United Kingdom for the present year is the smallest on record, and less by five hundred thousand acres than the area of 1860, when the number of consumers was less by four millions. A fall of twenty-five per cent. in prices caused an immediate decrease in production to the extent of 480,000 acres, or nearly one-tenth of the total wheat crop of the United Kingdom. Mr. Caird estimates the deficiency in the crop this year to be equal at least to the amount necessary for one month's consumption which will render it necessary to obtain a supply for six months and a half, instead of five months and a half, from foreign sources. This estimate, however, may be in some degree affected by the fact that the favorable weather this autumn has enabled the farmers to harvest their crops without loss, and also by the surplus which remains from the abundant harvest of last year. The crop of 1874 in Great Britain was greater than the average both in extent and yield, and there was no corresponding diminution in foreign imports. The actual amount of foreign wheat imported into England during the year was 11,700,000 quarters, an over-supply which led to a fall in prices and a great part of the crop was used as cattle food which being cheaper than either oats or oilcake. The English crop and the imported wheat together provided for a supply for thirteen months, and Mr. Caird, on the assumption that the harvest of 1876 will be ready at the usual season calculates that a supply for a little more than eleven months is now wanted or 11,000,000 quarters in all, of which 11,000,000 quarters must be imported.

The crop of wheat in all countries in 1874 was most abundant, but the returns this year are less satisfactory. There is however, a large surplus from the bountiful crop last year, and it is from this surplus, as Mr. Caird thinks, that the wants of England must be supplied. Russia and Germany respectively export one-tenth and one-eleventh of their wheat crops to England annually and the English market will probably receive the usual supply from both these countries. Mr. Caird is however, disposed to believe that the amount of the surplus in France has been over estimated. The French authorities estimated the crop of 1874 at 40,000,000 quarters while the home consumption is nearly equal to the average crop, or 30,000,000 quarters. The crop this year is said to have been below the average, but is only 1,000,000 quarters of the crop of 1874 was exported there might to be, according to the French estimate, a very large surplus remaining. There is, however, reason to doubt whether the small French cultivators are sufficiently wealthy to hold so large an amount, and Mr. Caird does not think it will be export more than 1,600,000 quarters, which is the largest amount ever imported into England from France.

The final conclusions of Mr. Caird are to the effect that it is evident that England will need a large supply of wheat than usual from the United States and Canada. During the last six years she has imported from this country more than 8,000,000 quarters annually or considerably more than one-half of her total imports. Mr. Caird expects only 1,000,000 quarters from Canada and says that there are about 1,000,000 quarters available for export at the principal ports of the circulation in the United States. According to his private advices there will be none of the crop of this country remaining unsold with that of last year of twenty-five per centum and that not more than one million quarters will be exported from California. It is probable that the crop is at least as good as it has been represented to be, as farmers are seldom known to exaggerate their prosperity. At all events we have a larger supply than we need for our own consumption, and it is satisfactory to know that there is a market open for all we can spare.

FACT AND FANCY

More money, more money" shouts General Cary from the Ohio stump. Let Congress adjust the currency to the wants of trade, writes Judge Pershing in Pennsylvania. Meanwhile the National banks are surrendering more circulation than is issued. The excess last month was $2,500,000 and since the first of July it is more than $8,000,000. This is what trade is saying about "more money" and the adjustment of the currency. Fact and fancy are not often brought into sharper contrast.

Capt. John Norris of Petersburg, Ky., is said to be the sole survivor of the American participants in Perry's victory on Lake Erie in 1813. He is now 84 years of age, hale, hearty and active. After the battle Commodore Perry wrote to Gen. Harrison that but for the twenty-nine men the latter had sent to him—of whom Norris was one—he would not have gained the victory. In 1840 the Kentucky Legislature voted Capt. Norris a gold medal for his services at Perry's victory. The old veteran will be at the Centennial if he lives.

Japan is about experimenting on a large scale in the business of wool growing. It has long been believed by foreigners that the country in the interior is admirably adapted to that pursuit, and an American gentleman, Mr. D. W. Ap Jones, some months ago made a liberal offer to the Government, proposing to introduce sheep at his own risk, and care for them a certain number of years, receiving in case of success a liberal share of the profits.

After much deliberation his offer was rejected, but his plan somewhat modified was adopted. The Department of the Interior furnishes ten thousand sheep, and pays fifty persons in charge of the flocks during the next eight and a half years, under the superintendence of Mr. Jones. Within eighteen months he must have fifteen hundred acres in pasture, the same number to be added annually until the total reaches seven thousand and five hundred acres. When the flock has twenty thousand ewes they are to be distributed by sale amongst the native farmers. Mr. Jones is to receive at the end of the period five thirty per cent. of the net profits. It is impossible to estimate the value to Japan of success in wool growing, which would stimulate that imitative and rapidly developing country to introduce manufactures, and so prepare the way for her complete civilization and admission to a place amongst the leading nations of the world.

The bark Draco is the oldest vessel in the United States. She was built at Duxbury by Reuben and Charles Drew in 1826, and now is over 51 years old. The Draco was built in the most thorough manner and of the best materials, pasture oak, and if no accident occurs may live as long in the future as she has in the past. She is 251 tons register, double deck, originally a brig, but altered into a bark in 1854. She was first employed in the freighting business, then sold to P. & C. Flint & Co. for the South American trade; next she passed to Samuel J. Bridge, Joseph Knowles, and E. Tucker Osborn, for the Australian trade; and was finally sold to Mr. J. Bourne, Jr., of New Bedford, for a whaler, and has long been engaged in the fishing business. The Draco was well known in Boston forty years ago, and was a favorite vessel with all her owners, as she was almost always fortunate in making profitable voyages for them.

CHURCH DEBTS. Dr. J. G. Holland writes: The way in which edifices are built nowadays really necessitates a new formula of dedication. How would this read: "We dedicate this edifice to Thee, our Lord and Master; we give to Thee and Thy cause and kingdom subject to a mortgage of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000). We bequeath it to our children and children's children, as the greatest boon we can confer on them (subject to the mortgage aforesaid), and we trust that they will have the grace and the money to pay the interest and lift the mortgage. Preserve it from fire and foreclosure we pray Thee, and make it abundantly useful to Thyself—subject, of course, to the aforesaid mortgage."

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Now they have got more help than they want at the Fall River mills, in spite of that agreement and the reduction in wages. Perhaps the operatives will learn something by the experience of the last three months.

Pershing Democratic candidate for Governor in Pennsylvania has been interviewed by a Tribune reporter, who found him decidedly muddled on the finances, except that he is an inflationist to a certain extent.

The Cincinnati Commercial has recalled the conclusion that there is to be no Democratic party. The currency question must burst it up in 1876, as the slavery question did in 1860." But it won't stay burst up. Ten years later it will be claiming credit for belief in the doctrines which its opponents have succeeded in establishing in spite of it.

Massachusetts has had some old Governors. Samuel Adams became Governor at 72 and retired at 75. Gov. Strong was in his 88th year when he was chosen in 1812 and he remained in office four years. Gov. Brooks was 64 years old when he was chosen; and he remained in office seven years. Gov. Eustis was 70 years old when he entered office.

An Indiana correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette says:

Mr. Sam Douglas, an old Indiana politician and for several years one of the proprietors of the Indianapolis Journal, returned from Ohio this morning. He is confident the Republicans will carry the state by a greatly increased majority. Wherever he went he found them thoroughly alive and determined to win. During the last two weeks, he says, the outlook has changed materially, and in a way to discourage Democrats."

The Cincinnati Commercial of Saturday says: "The week closes with the most stimulating indications in all quarters that the result in Ohio on the 12th will be the total defeat of the inflationists. The event of the week is the appearance of Carl Schurz in the campaign, and this has had a most happy influence. The Democrats had promised themselves great gains in Southern Ohio. This is the section where they suffer the heaviest losses. Hamilton County shows strong signs of going Republican."

The Democracy are the most "promising" party ever known. The New York Times says of people who are ready to be gulled:

If they are suspicious of the paper money theories of Ohio, they can take the hard money theories of Massachusetts, if they distrust protection in Pennsylvania, they can have free trade in New York. And if they are so exacting as to think that Democrats cannot be trusted to carry out these views they have the example of Massachusetts and New York as a pledge that Republicans will be nominated for that purpose, whenever they can be obtained."

Brownville Town Fair

[From our own correspondent.]

The Cattle Show and Fair, held at Brownville Saturday Oct. 2nd, was a complete success.

Judson Briggs exhibited his stallion "Columbus" weighing 1300 pounds. Richard Griffith exhibited a pair of three years old Columbus colts, weighing nearly 2800 pounds; also a two-year-old, weighing nearly 1300 pounds.

The principal excitement of the day was the contest for the premium for draught horses and mules. F. W. Brown's horses, weight 3400 pounds, and Oscar Blunt's mules, weight 2000 pounds, took the first and second money, each team hauling the same load of 7100 pounds on a drag.

John C. Willard had the best breeding mare. Moses W. Brown best carriage horse; Judson Briggs best business horse; James Sumner, Williamsburg, best pair of oxen, Freeman Tufts best pair two-years-old, J. W. Davis best pair of yearlings, girting 5 ft., 5 in.; F. W. Brown best Hereford Bull, 4 years old, girt 7 ft.; Lewis Tufts best Durham Bull, 18 months old girt 5 ft. 8 in., Wm. Williams best cow, J. W. Davis best two-years-old heifer; Andy R. Bullings best yearling Jersey heifer, Frank Dunning, Williamsburg, best yearling Hereford, Frank Dunning best pair of calves, John Elias best Jersey calf; Daniel Decker best Durham calf, Howard Powers best heifer calf on the ground; James E. Carr exhibited several coops of fancy fowl.

Judson Briggs exhibited a plow manufactured at Boxcroft which found much favor among the farmers.

F. W. Brown had the best corn, having raised 150 bushels of ears on one acre. Ephraim Willard of Brownville, and Daniel Decker of Williamsburg, both exhibited some very fine specimens of a different kind. Willie Nason had best pop corn.

Jas. E. Carr exhibited largest squash; Samuel Smith and Roscoe Tibbets, a fine specimen of Hubbard squash. N. Berry largest beet, weighing 8 pounds, Albert Berry best beets for table use; Wm. Williams best potatoes; S. A. Stickney best onions, Wm. Williams best turnips; Morrill Wilkinson of Milo, best pumpkins, Chas. A. Whitney best California pumpkin.

There was quite an exhibition of fruit. David Libby had the best specimen of Duchess of Oldenburg apples. Daniel Decker, Williamsburg best Transcendant Crab-apples. A. H. Morrill, best Hyslop Crab-apples. S. Abbee, best variety of natural fruit. Matthew S. Berry exhibited twelve varieties of grafted Apples. He is taking much interest in this department of agriculture, and will be prepared next spring to furnish fruit trees of hardy and choice varieties from his nursery, to those that wish to raise nice fruit.

There was a fair exhibition of butter and cheese, and the committee being somewhat puzzled, declined to report otherwise than in equal praise to all.

In Domestic Manufactures, especial mention was made of a very nice rag carpet, made by a lady upward of 80 years old.

Numerous rugs, quilts, bed-spreads, scarfs, tidies, specimens of patchwork, and a thousand beautiful articles, both useful and ornamental, spoke well for the industry of the community.

M. S. Berry exhibited a specimen of Sorghum Syrup. From twenty-five hills he obtained two and one-half quarts of very nice syrup.

The artists of the town exhibited several oil paintings, crayon drawings and pencilings, which reflect much credit. A party of Penobscot Indians, camping near the village, exhibited baskets manufactured by them, and did a thriving business with the lookers-on.

B.

New York State, which is one of the heaviest producers of apples, will have a light yield this year for fall and winter varieties, except in a small region westward, where the yield will be fair. Buyers from New York city are paying from twenty shillings to three dollars in the orchard for all apples, which leaves small chance for profit at present selling rates. The winter apple crop will soon begin to arrive, chiefly by canal. Eight boat loads, or about 20,000 barrels, were wholly ruined by freezing last year. There have been no exports this season, aside from a few sent to Havana, which sold to no profit. For winter apples prices are expected to rule high.

WHAT IS THERE IN A NAME?

A good name is a capital to a manufacturer, and should not be kept from the public that may wish to know where to find his production and KNOW that they are his when offered for sale.

The subscriber has made it a specialty to manufacture Ladies' Fine Boots and Shoes for over FORTY YEARS in Boston, and for THIRTY of that time retailed them from his own counter. For the past TWELVE years, a very large part of them have been retailed by two of the most popular shoe dealers on Washington street, HENRY H. TUTTLE & Co. and T. H. MCELROY & Co., and these two firms alone have had over SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS' worth from the subscriber's factory the thickest and most popular goods. The subscriber now proposes to have his firm's name stamped upon all goods of the manufacture and advertise, in twelve public news papers they may be found in Boston. The stamp will be

HOLD THE FORT

MR SANKEY'S FAMOUS REVIVAL SONG.

"Hold the fort, for I am coming"
Jesus signals still,
Wave the answer back to Heaven,
"By thy grace we will."

See the mighty host advancing,
Satan leading on;
Mighty men around us falling,
Courage almost gone

See the glorious banner waving!
Hear the trumpet blow!
In our leader's name we'll triumph
Over every foe.

Fierce and long the battle rages,
But our help is near,
Onward comes our great Commander,
Cheer my comrades, cheer!

THE LATEST FASHIONS

Private milliners have had their fall openings of bonnets, and settled the matter of shapes for the season. Fashionable French milliners have already mobbed the extremely large bonnets sent out at the beginning of the season, and now make a graceful bonnet of admirable proportions and small size. The flaring uncouth brim is tamed but the crown is smaller and the cottage style in the head so closely that the bonnet scarcely needs an elastic to hold it on. The ribbon strings that we recorded as a sensible fashion, it seems are not to serve their natural purpose of tying the bonnet under the chin, but are to be crossed behind the head and passed around the neck, a coquettish fashion, instead of the black lace scarfs worn. Black tulle and lace are used for this purpose as well as ribbon and this is the only way in which black lace appears upon the bonnets. French milliners have in turn at all the best trimming houses, but is most sparingly and very mild time trimmings, usually select chenille — but is altogether of kinds which bows and ribbons that are seldom to be seen, are among the old combinations — as in all the world.

The stylish bonnets are full soft puffs of crepe or satin, or artificial flowers of all natures, or artificial sashes of much brown tulle, or many small bows and ribbons lining, mixed kinds. It is thus that unbleached lace will be worn before the velvet bonnets are put away, and there are many bonnets that will be worn on dirt occasions throughout the season.

Hats will be less matching the glove and shoe than the dress than formerly. Soft dark shades are now chosen for costume that habit selected gloves of exact correspondence. The most fashionable gloves are of the dark shades of the dress, but the exact purchase to observe is the dark shades of brown and grey such as the natural colors of the skin. Gloves are no longer worn in two tones as formerly with thumb and fingers of different colors.

Elegant costumes for the carriage are among the latest importations. They are of velvet and grosgrain with supreme taste added to the upper skirt that gives full train to the back. The upper skirt of flowing straight breadth is usually of velvet and the lower and shorter skirt of grosgrain, reaching enough to fall below the upper skirt proper and entirely conceal it, no matter of what rich fabric it is made. Unbossed satin with interwoven figures in flowers are for classes and trains of the richest costumes. This satin has a small satin square train covered with black embossed velvet arabesques, and all of the costumes except the self forms are of the embossed satin with the odd bodice and plain satin as shown on the sleeves. The ladies of white and with a bouquet of black velvet, which is lined with the new strawberry velvet ribbons and bows of white satin lined with the strawberry velvet from the back of the hat to the front and the ruffle of the dress. Across the fabric of these elegant costumes are laid in folds, edged with black lace and black chenille.

Paper Worms.—These insignificant and disagreeable creatures are of the greatest benefit to the soil which they inhabit, and are much misunderstood and misjudged by the human race. They are very humble but efficient helpers of the agriculturist, and far from deserving the ill will and injury which is usually heaped upon them, they are worthy of all praise and encouragement. The services they render to the farmer are simply invaluable, for by turning over the soil in search of food, they keep it in a thoroughly healthy condition, and in many cases actually manure it with their own bodies. Worms are also of great use in draining the land, for they bore numerous holes in the soil, which allow the water to pass away freely. Darwin has calculated that there are as many as fifty thousand worms to the acre of land, and that they bring to the surface of the ground every year more than ten tons of earth per acre. Worms are also of great use in aerating the soil, for they bring down with them into their holes a large quantity of dead leaves and other vegetable matter, which they partially digest, and which, when mixed with the earth, forms a rich manure
